Bio :

What is Humantronic ?

Just something simple that sounds like his music, and, needless to say, something that sounds just like him... Frédéric Alvernhe (better known as Fred Flower) has made a career that is part and parcel of his personality. Today, this composer-producer-jock comes up with the very personal project that people had been waiting for, on a label set up with a few European friends. Their debut EP features James Taylor (Swayzak) and Cabanne... Some highly specialized material indeed, but miles away from a passing fad. Far ahead.

Humantronic reveals his own vision of techno: mesmerizing, massive and groovy tunes inspired by the great forebears as much as by new-school electro whiz-kids.

A techno in his own image: sincere and unusual, part of the current climate only to breathe in some fresh oxygen. For all that, Humantronic is a project deeply rooted in its own era, the child of a new tech. buff. He handles with equal ease both Final Scratch and Ableton Live, the fine software he uses on stage to present his repertoire...
